

ABSTRACT

An isometric exercising apparatus that allows users to exert their strongest range of bodily motion in order to reach their full potential when performing isometric exercises in combination with a method to determine the optimum timetable to perform

5 isometric exercise.